1. Apply for a U.S. Department of Education personal identification number (PIN) at www.pin.ed.gov. You will use this number to electronically sign your FAFSA. If you are already enrolled, you will also apply for a PIN on the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) website.

2. Appear for financial aid. You must complete and submit a FAFSA to apply for federal financial aid. This includes completing the required electronic signature and submitting a completed FAFSA. Federal Pell Grant recipients. The amount awarded depends on the availability of funds received from the federal government.

3. If you're planning to enroll in school participating in federal student aid programs, your parent information on the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) will be used to calculate your expected family contribution (EFC). The EFC is a measure of your family's financial resources, as determined by the Department of Education, and your total unearned income and resources. Your total expected family contribution (EFC) should be available to help pay for your education.

4. Apply for financial aid! You must complete and submit a FAFSA to apply for federal financial aid. The quickest way to complete and submit a FAFSA is at www.fafsa.ed.gov.

5. Register with the Selective Service, if you're between the ages of 18 and 25.

6. Maintain satisfactory academic progress throughout the academic year.

Cleveland Chiropractic College offers many forms of financial aid to help you afford the cost of attending college. This includes scholarships, grants, and loans that are available to students with varying degrees of financial need.

Eligibility for financial aid is determined by the Department of Education, the Office of Federal Student Aid, and Cleveland Chiropractic College. Cleveland Chiropractic College is an exceptional postsecondary education university where you can pursue the education of your dreams.

The Federal Pell Grant is a need-based grant that does not have to be repaid. The Federal Pell Grant is available to undergraduate students who haven't earned a bachelor's or graduate degree. Eligibility is determined by your Expected Family Contribution (EFC). Participation does not affect your eligibility for other financial aid.

The Federal Supplemental Educational Opportunity Grant (FSEOG) is a need-based grant for students with exceptional financial need. The FSEOG is available to students who have a Federal Pell Grant award and demonstrate exceptional financial need.

The Federal Work-Study Program is a need-based program that provides part-time employment opportunities for undergraduate students. Students can earn money to help pay for educational expenses. The amount of a student's earnings is determined by the amount of money that is available to the student.

Federal Direct Loans are available to students who are eligible based on their financial need. Federal Direct PLUS Loans are available to students who are dependent undergraduate students or graduate students to cover educational expenses. Repayment begins following a nine-month grace period at which time interest will begin to accrue. The amount awarded depends on the availability of funds received from the federal government.

Outside Scholarships are available from various chiropractic organizations and other sources. For an extensive list of potential scholarships that you can use to help pay for your education, please visit www.cleveland.edu.

What is the Cost of Attendance (COA)? The COA is the total amount it will cost you to attend college for a given academic year, including tuition, fees, books, supplies, and personal expenses. Your total expected financial aid cannot exceed the COA.

What is the Expected Family Contribution (EFC)? The EFC is calculated from the information you report on the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). The EFC is used to determine how much additional financial need exists and indicates how much of your and your family’s resources would be available to help pay for your education.

What is financial aid? Financial aid is aid that is available to students who need assistance to continue their education. Financial aid cannot exceed the Cost of Attendance (COA). The difference between the COA and the EFC is the amount of financial aid available to the student.
